PATHEPIC PICTURE

Although Mr. Sinclair emerged from his now celebrated conference with Big Jim Farley his face adorned with smiles, the picture of that conference has its pathetic side.

During last year's gubernatorial campaign, Sinclair was treated like a cheap burglar by Farley and the Administration. Upon his return from a trip to Washington the EPIC leader gleefully informed us that Mr. Roosevelt in two fireside chats would discuss and endorse the "production for use plan," so dear to the heart of the ex-Socialist.

Months went by and the "chats" failed to go on the air. Then when it became apparent that Sinclair had been "spoofed" individually and collectively by everyone in places of authority at the national capital, he became not only exceedingly sorrowful but also waxed wroth. It was hard for him to realize that he was not welcome at the party table and in its councils but was regarded as a political interloper, communion with whom might have an adverse effect upon the faithful. Sinclair was allowed to go to his defeat without a helping word.

THE PICTURE CHANGES

In the meantime, a presidential campaign with its outcome daily appearing not the clinch it was once thought to be, loomed large and dark upon the horizon. So Farley, ostensibly on vacation, and

Decks Clear
For Vote On E. C. Charter

By the opinion rendered by City Attorney T. H. DeLap at the meeting of the council of El Cerrito last evening, the decks are all clear and there is nothing to stand in the way of an election for the choosing of 15 freeholders to frame a new charter for the city.

The city attorney reported that the signatures had been verified by the county clerk, they were sufficient in number, and the petition was in proper form.

Under the state constitution the election must be called not earlier than 30 days from the date of the filing of the petition, and not later than 60 days. This means that the people of the city will vote on the question on a date between September 25 and October 24.

This date will be fixed by the council at its meeting next Tuesday night, when the officers of election will also be named.

This was brought about by the action of the council last evening in adopting the new budget, over which many meetings have been held, and to which much thought and consideration has been given.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Notwithstanding that a material reduction has been effected in the tax rate, the council through many economies worked out, has been able to provide for greater efficiency and greater protection to the people of the city by increasing the police force by two men, by arranging for additional fire equipment, and the displacing of some antiquated apparatus, and giving back to the employees one-third of the pay cut of from 5 to 12 percent that took place several years ago.

HOW IT WORKS OUT

The pay cut of the employees, made three years ago amounted

300 M. P. H. IS MADE BY AGE DRIVER

EXHIBIT, Utah, Sept. 3.—The official contest board of the American Automobile Association announced tonight Sir Malcolm Campbell had bettered 300 miles an hour in his special run over the Bonneville salt flats near here today.

The board announcement said Sir Malcolm actually made an average of 301.377 miles an hour both directions over the measured mile in his run.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 3.—(AP)—With a new world record to his credit, Sir Malcolm Campbell, the famous British knight of the roaring road, will seek further laurels at dawn Thursday on the salt desert of Utah.

To attempt his 300-mile run, his special car, a 1935 Buick, was specially modified to handle the high speeds.

His old record made at Daytona Beach, Fla., March 7, was 276.814 miles per hour. Campbell hopes to eliminate several adverse conditions which hampered his last run.

While the hot desert sun clouded steadily, last night the repairs had to be made to the car's appearance, knocked down by moisture, and the start was delayed more than an hour.

Now, Sir Campbell knows how close he came to disaster when his left rear tire blew out at 160 miles an hour.

For the next four miles, the speed champion struggled with the steering wheel to keep the car from swinging out of control.

Finally he came to a stop, 100 yards from the track, and the car was towed to the pits.

He was then able to get the car back on the track and he started his second run.

His new record was 301.377 miles per hour, both directions over the measured mile.

Speed King

SIR MALCOLM CAMPBELL, five times world's automobile speed king, insists that research, not speed, is the objective of his speed trial over the great salt beds near Wendover, Utah.

A slight cross wind sprang up for the first trial.

OIL DEAL IN ETHIOPIA IS CALLED OFF

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3, U.P.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today announced that the Standard Oil Company, particularly in the recent oil and mineral concession in Ethiopia, would withdraw from that concession at once.

Hull said he conferred with George S. Walden, chairman of the board and S. Dundas, vice president of the company, today at which time he told them that it was the "highly desirable" for the company to withdraw from the concession.

TWO CONFERENCES
Hull disclosed he had had two conferences with Walden and Dundas at his first conference he said he advised them that the oil concession had proved "most embarrassing" to this government and suggested its termination.

Walden and Dundas, he said, complied at once with associates in New York and later returned to advise the State Department that they would withdraw from the concession and would so notify the Ethiopian Emperor.

CANCEL LIORE

Hull who made the announcement at a hastily called press conference, made public a statement submitted to him by the oil company setting forth the company's position in the entire transaction.

The Senate committee investigating the oil deal in Ethiopia, after a long session, decided to defer its proposed inquiry into the concession. Chairman Gerald P. Nye, Republican, North Dakota, said no action would be taken unless the Ethiopian situation makes an inquiry necessary.

TO KEEP HANDS OFF

The United States government will continue to keep "hands off" in the oil deal in Ethiopia, Hull said in a previous press conference, bluntly reminding other nations of their pledges to keep peace.

He indicated emphatically that this country would not be stampeded into the impending African war by the oil concession.

Emperor Haile Selassie turned over nearly half of his empire for mineral exploitation to the African Exploration & Development Corporation last week.

Great Britain "advised" Haile Selassie to drop the scheme, on the theory that it violated the Franco-Italian treaty of 1904, but the Emperor refused, Italy protested the concession, whereupon the King of Kings announced that he would be glad to make further concessions to financial interests of any nation willing to develop his kingdom's resources.

with the solemn assurance given that politics was taken, made a trip to the coast and Honolulu.

In fact it was nothing more or less than a political trip and its purpose was to keep the boys and girls in line, and there is one thing you can say for him, he is a performer and not a reformer.

His days and nights were filled with conferences, and hundreds were hanging around his hotel quarters in the hope of not only getting his ear, but also a slice of the juicy patronage of which he is dispenser in chief.

IT'S DIFFERENT NOW

Being as wise as a serpent, even though not as laudable as a dove, Mr. Farley knew that no embarrassing consequences would ensue through a kiss-and-peace make up meeting with Sinclair, who has the majority of the party's vote in this commonwealth.

In the hollow of his hand, snubbing Ham Cotton, leader of the Bourbon conservative element, he flirted with the man whom he had branded as a party pariah, with the result that the two came together.

NEEDS THEM BOTH

Interviewers were brushed aside by Farley with the statement that politics was not talked at the meeting. Sinclair, however, was more frank. "Mr. Farley has changed," he said. He sees the views of liberal Democrats. Our side has the votes, Ham Cotton has the money, Farley wants them both.

TRADE IS MADE

That tells the story from one angle. The door of sidewalk and intensely practical politics made a trade for votes, the consideration being the inclusion of "production for use" in the next Democratic platform. Even if the promise is carried out it will only be a "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal," judged by the present Democratic platform that has been ruthlessly cast into the discard and its existence ignored.

A POOR SALE

It has always been my opinion that Mr. Sinclair is a man of high, but impractical ideals and I maintain that view. The fact of the matter is, plainly and bluntly put, he is no match for the Jim Farleys of politics, and stands as much show as the suck-

SCOUT LEADER IS SPEAKER AT LIONS' MEETING

C. J. Carlson, regional scout executive for California and the Twelfth District was the speaker Tuesday noon at the regular Lions' Club meeting. He was introduced by the local Scout executive Donald Seaman.

Two Eagle Scouts of Troop 10, which is being sponsored by the Lions' Club were present and gave a short report of their trip East. Russell Leist gave a five-minute description of their trip East and of their visit in Washington and New York City. Joe Reize described their return, with stops at Niagara Falls, Detroit and Glacier Park.

Carlson stated that his first visit to Richmond was in the forest of scouting 14 years ago, that he had seen the interest and development here during that period of time, the last nine years of which he has been regional director. He took as his subject "Crooked Trees and Straight Men." He spoke of the influence in a boy's life which would make for good manhood and compared them with the planting and development of a young orchard of apple trees. Mr. Carlson stated that the value of the Scout program was largely in its voluntary leadership and made a plan for more than to get into work and add in the development of this program for the boys.

Carlson stated that one boy in three in this region was now a Scout and that that number could be doubled with little difficulty. There were enough more volunteers to handle the groups of boys in Richmond is to be congratulated.

Carlson upon the interest that the men have taken in programs of this sort. There are now 516 boys enrolled in the program and ten of the boys were selected to go on the jamboree trip East. Joe and Russell made a fine presentation and the dress by Carlson was enjoyed by every member of the club present.

The Boy Scouts of America, one of the eight member agencies in the Richmond Community Chest and is supported entirely through this fund. The 1935 Chest campaign will open within a few days and W. P. Drummond, who has been selected as the general campaign chairman, stated that he has every reason to believe that the Richmond campaign will be even more successful than year than last and that the Scout program will be enabled to go ahead with increasing momentum.

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant

Either because of stomach disturbance, food fermenting in the mouth, or because of decayed teeth, people frequently have halitosis, a bad breath. No wonder others consider them a nuisance.

But now science has found that the regular use of Listerine will often overcome this bad breath odor due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on mouth, teeth, or nasal passages.

This safe, antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and prevents a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves.

Try using Listerine every two or three days. See how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Listerine Pharmaceutical Co., St. Louis, Mo.

JEANETTE JONES WELDON W. LEE ARE MARRIED

Miss E. Jeanette Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Glenn Jones, of 212 Thirty-second street and Weldon W. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lee, of 427 South Thirty-eighth street, were united in marriage by Rev. K. B. Wallace at the First Baptist church on Sunday.

Everyone Shows Predominating Traits of the Opposite Sex

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.
AN INCREASING excursion into the realm of biology was made recently by Dr. Emil Novak, a Baltimore gynecologist, when he attempted analyzing the fact that many members of both sexes showed marked traits of the opposite sex. This ought to bring comfort to many boys who have been taunted with being "sissies," or to girls who have been called "tomboys."

According to Dr. Novak, biologists are coming to believe that there is no such thing as a 100 per cent male or a 100 per cent female. He believes there is a bit of the feminine in all men and a bit of the masculine in all women.

There are many grades, says Dr. Novak, of this intersexual mixture and it is due in large part to the influence of the ductless glands.

This knowledge may modify our criticism of either sex which shows predominating traits of the other. Perhaps, it doesn't hurt us after all.

Here are some more impressive biological facts coming this time from Dr. O. E. Baker of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. He makes the very important statement after a careful survey, that old folks are getting more plentiful and youth is declining in numbers. What he means is that the average life expectancy has been lengthened and there are now seventeen per cent more persons past sixty-five than there were five years ago. At the same time, and over the same period, the number of children in the United States has decreased by ten per cent.

Birth Rate Drops

The birth rate according to Dr. Baker has been declining for a century. This increase in the comparative number of elderly people will hold for decades to come. The prediction is added that by 1945 the population will have reached a peak, perhaps five millions in excess of our present figures. After this, if the birth rate continues to drop and there is no increase in immigration, there is bound to be a steady decline.

The situation, declares Dr. Baker, is of particular importance to his department in agricultural economics. If a natural and toward increased production should continue, we shall have to eat more to find a way to dispose of food products. Fewer people everywhere means a lessened consumption everywhere. Hence, less prosperity and lower standards of living. Economic conditions always react on the public welfare and that in turn upon public health.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES:—C. H. C. of Berkeley, is fretted over too small a breast measure and is using various creams and massage without success. For one of your kind, my dear girl, there are a million others who would like to reduce that same girth. Better be satisfied as you are. The tissues of the breasts are too delicate and too susceptible to lymphatic obstruction to make it wise to interfere with the natural distribution of your flesh. For a young woman, the breast and hip measures should be practically the same.

Mrs. M. R. S. of Welch Daily News, is twenty-eight years old and the mother of two children. Her motherhood has cost her several operations for a serious infection, and left her generally toxic. She fears cancer, though the laboratory test is negative.

This case cannot have a full discussion in the column, but I think there must be little danger of cancer. Daily douches will relieve the slight fissure from which the blood oozes. Use boro-glyceride twice a week in local applications. Hospital rest is advised for the best results from this treatment, or in any event a period spent in bed under the care of a physician.

Short Cuts

To remove gelatin dessert from the mold, dip the mold up to the edge in lukewarm water and hold it there a minute. Then cover the top of the mold with plate and invert both. Give the mold a shake, holding it close to the serving plate, and another if necessary until the gelatin is released. Unless it is to be served at once, store it in the refrigerator.

For curled celery use the inner stalks, cutting them into three or four inch pieces. Cut each piece into strips and wash in cold water. Chill them in ice water and the stripped ends will curl up.

Profiles For Today

Two Men Who Peer Heavenward

By TALBOT LAKE
EVERY so often the job of day — meaning the sun, if you don't happen to be a poet or a cub reporter — takes occasion to hide his face. Various reasons are given for it. Some say the world is so irrefragably bad the sun can't stand the scene. Scientists who harbor a curiosity concerning the stellar spaces propose going to various places in the Far East, in time for the eclipse due June 19, 1936. Rather than blaming the earth's madness for the sun's veiling, they will look into the chromosphere and try to get a glimpse of the sun's face.

Two of these scientists are Professor Frank Schlesinger, head of the department of astronomy at Yale, and Professor Henry Norris Russell of Princeton. Dr. Schlesinger has been presiding over the meetings of the International Astronomers Union in Paris and is now the recipient of the French Legion of Honor, and Professor Russell was a visitor there.

Both these men are rated as among those who have more than a bowing acquaintance with the heavenly bodies. It is interesting that both deny this old world is running down and they do hold out hope that the human soul may stage a comeback elsewhere, even if it does make a batch of this terrestrial spinner.

Then, too, Professor Russell figures that the oxygen in our atmosphere will last at least 1,000,000 years more. After that, unless the human body develops a way of getting along without the gas, whoever happens to be around in that far-away time will just curl up and suffocate. Pleasant thought for "hot weather" — what?

Dr. Schlesinger, who was born in New York, has more degrees, more honorary awards and more memberships in astronomical societies here and abroad than he might be able to count, even with an adding machine. Dr. Norris was born in Oyster Bay, N. Y.

One of Dr. Schlesinger's compilations is a catalogue of stellar parallaxes. Which is what the displacement of stars would be if viewed from some point where you don't happen to be—that is, aside from the earth.

Guide to Charm

Deflation of Waist-Line Spare Tire

By JACQUELINE HUNT

MOST women work unceasingly to keep their faces young and lovely, but many forget that their bodies, too, call for constant attention. Bodies must be young and lithe and beautiful to be consistent with charming faces. To have such a body every woman must battle against sagging muscles and a thickening waistline.

Here are several exercises good for the posture, and also good for reducing:

Lie down on a mat or quilt on the floor. Tense the muscles of the abdomen and hips and pull from left to right and right to left. Three or four times are enough for the first day. Increase the number gradually until you are doing it twelve times daily. It is an excellent exercise for removing that "spare tire" around your middle.

Here's another: Lie on your back, making sure that every point of your spine is touching the floor. While you breathe deeply, raise your arms alternately, left, up, back over your head and down to your sides. Do it a dozen times daily, with both arms.

Next do the bicycle exercise. If you have ever lined up on one of those early morning exercise programs, you have probably done it before. It's an old favorite. Lie flat on your back, and bring your knees up against your stomach. Then pedal out, first with one leg, then the other, as though you were in a bicycle race. Do it vigorously enough to start the perspiration.

After the bicycle exercise, raise the legs without bending them at the knees. Bring them up together as high as you can. This is the best exercise possible for getting your stomach muscles tight and strong. You may not be able to do it at first, but keep trying until you can do it easily. When you have mastered the trick you will be surprised how easy it will be to keep your tummy in.

Here is one good for the waist and the shoulder muscles. Place both hands on a chair and stretch your feet out straight behind, so that the weight of your body rests on the hands and toes. Without shifting, lower the chest until it touches the seat of the chair, then resume the first position. Repeat ten times or more.

Walking around the room with a book balanced on your head is an excellent exercise for the neck and for general posture. Your reward for this effort will be increased energy, better health and more joy in living.

But remember, exercise does no good unless it is persisted in. Do not overdo the first day, and miss a week recovering from stiffness. Start gradually, increasing the amount of exercise daily. Have a regular time for exercise, and make a habit of it.

Are you tired and wilted at the end of a sizzling day? Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of Miss Hunt's leaflet, "Keeping Cool."

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have a serious problem—unpleasant breath. Not only that, but I have an unpleasant taste in my mouth all the time. How can I overcome this trouble?"—A. M.

First, you should see your dentist and find out if there are any teeth that need filling or extraction. Be extra careful to brush your teeth with a paste or powder twice a day. Brushing is not enough, however; you should also use a mouthwash. There are many number of good ones, or, if you prefer, you can use lemon juice or ordinary salt water.

QUESTION: "Is it possible to reduce heavy, fleshy ankles without reducing the entire body? I am not overweight, but these parts are definitely out of proportion."—Mrs. A. D.

Exercises will help slenderize your fat ankles. Here is a good exercise for the purpose. Sit on a straight chair and cross your left knee over the right, supporting the added weight on the tip of your right foot. Point downward as far as you can with the toes of the left foot. Then using the ankle as a pivot, rotate to the left, making ten or fifteen complete circles. Return to the starting position. Then cross the right knee over the left and repeat the exercise.

And here is another tip. Be sure that your shoes fit. Shoes that are too short or otherwise ill-fitting will often throw the delicate bones of the ankles out of adjustment and cause them to become large and fleshy.

Seasonal View Favors Ostrich for Evening

By IRENE VAIL

New York—Not every woman can wear ruffles. Wear ruffles while ye may, is sound advice. They are naive, especially when coupled with ringlets and the many little-girl coiffures. The low-heeled sandal is another first aid to age deception.

That evening gowns are a big issue of the moment every one knows, and that later on the tulle and taffetas are to be supplanted by ostrich is something to think about. Judging from recent reports of what the chic world is wearing to the Paris races these lovely Sundays, capes are distinctly in the winning class. Milliners are doing many interesting things with ostrich, and it would not surprise me at all to find it back in favor, once winter comes. Everyone seems to concede that after straw hat time one will be clamoring for velvet.

There is big news in millinery window displays this week, for three shops are featuring the new Renaissance berets which Paris milliners launched recently. One collection includes both velvet and felt styles in black, red, and blue. Some are the very extreme side-draped effects of Agnes, and there are modifications of these as well. Off-face, pointed, and forward movements are offered. There is also a double brim with shallow beret crown in the Henry VIII period.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "We have been invited to go motoring with neighbors who have a car. What portion of the expense should we assume? We plan to dine out?"—Mrs. T. W.

ANSWER: The guests pay for their own dinner. They divide among them the expense of running the car. The owner pays for flats or any other repairs which may develop during the trip, as well as his own dinner.

QUESTION: "When corn on the cob is served, should a whole ear of corn be a portion?"—F. R. F.

ANSWER: Corn on the cob should be reserved for the informal table only. Each ear should be cut up into pieces of a size that the guest can handle conveniently with one hand. The two-handed technique for playing a harmonica is wrong for eating corn.

Dishes for Today

New Recipes Employ the Refrigerator

By JUDITH WILSON

ICE CREAM is an ever-popular dish. It can turn the ordinary family meal into a party. It is tempting to look at and is packed with practical food values. It is the perfect dessert for a formal dinner when served in attractive dishes with the right garnishes.

Other frozen dishes are gaining in popularity, too. Fruit juice, smartly seasoned tomato juice and many juicy fresh fruits are frozen to a mush.

A tart fruit sherbet served as an accompaniment to the meat course is not a new idea, but it is an excellent one. The latest novelty is to freeze piquant relishes and serve them in tiny glasses along with the meat or fish.

Today's recipes for frozen dishes are out of the ordinary, and some of them can be prepared either in a mechanical refrigerator or the ordinary ice freezer.

Cucumber Relish
Soak one tablespoon gelatin for five minutes in one-fourth cup cold water, then dissolve in one-half cup hot water. Peel two large cucumbers, halve and remove the seeds. Grate the sections. Peel and grate one tart apple and mix with the cucumber, one-fourth cup drained, crushed pineapple, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-half teaspoon salt and a dash of black pepper. Add the dissolved gelatin and one and one-fourth cups cold water. Freeze as a sherbet and serve in glasses with hot or cold boiled fish.

Watermelon Ice
Cut the firm red center from a watermelon and remove the seeds. Put through the food-chopper enough to make five cups. Drain off one and three-fourths cups of the juice, add an equal amount of sugar to the juice and boil until it forms a syrup. Cool and pour over the watermelon. Add four tablespoons lemon juice and let stand for an hour. Pour into the freezing tray of a mechanical refrigerator and freeze, beating vigorously every fifteen minutes until the mixture is frozen. This can be frozen in an ice-cream freezer, using six parts ice to one of salt.

Frozen Apricot Shortcake
Cook one cup dried apricots in two and a half cups water until tender. Add one-third cup sugar, bring to a boil, remove from the fire and put through a sieve. Sprinkle one teaspoon gelatin on one tablespoon water and allow to stand until softened. Add to the apricot pulp and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Beat one egg very light, add one-fourth cup powdered sugar and one teaspoon vanilla and blend well. Whip one cup heavy cream

Wife May Make a Success of Marriage by Sympathy for Mate

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

MAYOR LA GUARDIA of the City of New York has just handed out such sound advice to the wives of New York's finest—cops to you—that it seems worth passing on to wives in general. Not that the mayor has discovered any new truths. He has been sensible enough to realize that we were ceasing to regard the old ones.

Is Toy Duplication Good or Bad?

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

ALLEN and Howard, respectively five and seven years of age, have many toys between them. Whatever is bought for one is bought for the other, so there may be no jealousy. The stage would appear to be set for smooth sailing with regard to the toy situation. And yet, these two children are continuously quarreling with each other over some toy or other.

A recent quarrel, for example, arose over a toy watering can. Originally Allen had one and Howard had one. But Allen seems to have used his toy for other things than intended, with the result that the nozzle was irreparably damaged and the spout became bent. As fate would have it, at just about the time his watering can had reached a state of disuse, he developed an interest in gardening. There was nothing left to do, therefore, but annex brother's pot, which stood all shiny and new on the toy shelf. This he did at once.

Seven-year-old Howard has other things to do than sprinkle flowers. But when he saw little Allen with the watering pot for which he himself had no use, he wanted it back. It was his wasn't it? To this Allen replied, "It's mine now." Before long they were at each other and, struggling, rolled over onto the floor.

The majority of quarrels between children arise over the possession of some toy. Many parents, hoping to avoid such quarrels, get toys in duplicate. But the method is unsound. To teach children respect for each other's property, each must first be an independent property owner and each should possess toys that are of some practical value to himself. It is better to get one sprinkling can and one wagon, for instance, and invite the sharing of toys, than to get toys in exact duplicate. The latter makes children selfish.

until it will hold its shape, then fold into the egg mixture. Cut a sponge cake in one-fourth-inch slices and arrange in the bottom of a refrigerator tray. Spread over this the apricot pulp, then the cream mixture. Freeze two hours or more in a mechanical refrigerator with the temperature control set at the highest point. Cut in squares to serve. This recipe makes eight portions.

He was wise enough not to attempt to convey the impression that he was a martyr to the cause in having to entertain these women, but he was painstaking in his effort to make his wife realize that, after all, such social contacts were necessary to his particular line of business.

"I wish I could really believe it was so," she wound up lamely. I am sure he wished so, too, for could anything be more completely disheartening to a man than to be constantly trying to placate a jealous wife who had no cause whatever for jealousy?

Other Women

Women who quail at the idea of their husbands' associating with other women during business hours should be careful to marry men who are engaged in occupations which are not so to speak, co-educational. They should certainly never marry men in any line whose success depends on women.

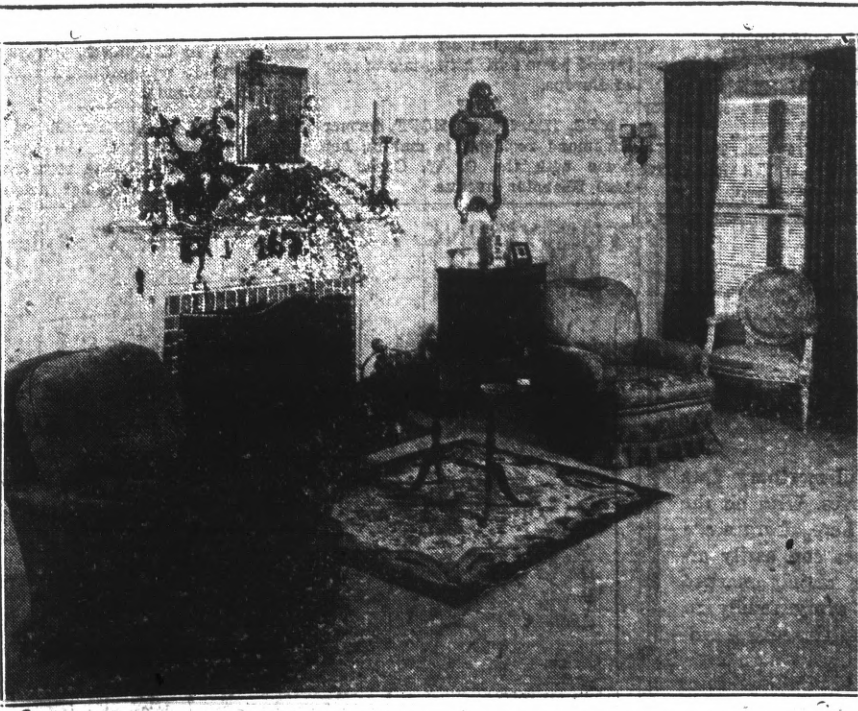

Men are much more sensible in such matters. Young husbands who have working wives do not waste time conjuring up lurid pictures of office romances.

Her husband's stenographer is often a thorn in the flesh of a wife who has no earthly reason to suppose that her husband has the slightest personal interest in the girl.

There's a vast difference between the smug, complacent fool who cannot believe that her husband would ever even cast an admiring glance on a beautiful woman and the one who suspects him of the worst when he is merely politely discharging a social or official obligation.

Men have enough to contend with in the daily grind without having to fight hobgoblins when they return to their homes at night. Most of the absurd fancies idle wives build up about their husband's business associates are nothing but hobgoblins and particularly absurd ones at that. Wives who keep their petty annoyances and speculations to themselves and who go into their act of being sympathetic and understanding mates make the best job of matrimony.

COMFORT AND SIMPLICITY

Here is a unique arrangement emphasizing simplicity, yet importantly comfortable, in the living room in the home of Clark Gable, screen star, Beverly Hills, Cal. Walls are paneled in ivory white and the fireside chairs are in deep rose brocade. A few well chosen antique pieces are added to the ensemble giving an effect for a home that has an atmosphere of welcome.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in 4 days or two and you have to swallow more pills. What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic like Plantax to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all food secretions and at the same time restore the sluggish liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, coated tongue, yellow skin, sour stomach, gas, bilious attacks or other symptoms of constipation and liver trouble. Plantax is made from the juices of harmless medicinal plants—Nature's own remedies—that act in a mild, easy way without weakening or irritating the organs. Try it tonight. Deaths Of Four Babies Held Due To Negligence

SAN JOSE, Sept. 3. (UP)—Coroner Charles Spalding today charged that deaths of four Mexican babies in Santa Clara county within the last two weeks were caused by neglect. Parents of the children, according to coroner operators and fellow workers in the county's prison hospital, failed to give the babies proper care, leaving them to pursue their work. A 4-year-old, age four months, died today at the R. J. Main ranch. Within the last two weeks, Frances Robles, one month, Alfred Morales and Raymond Novato, each three months, have died at local ranches.

MR. ROOSEVELT IN DEFENSE OF HIS POLICIES

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 3.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt vigorously defended his ideas of governmental reform in an address to his home town neighbors tonight. Standing bareheaded in a cold drizzle the President explained in homely terms his conception of the reconstruction of the government. He compared the chances being made in Federal authority to repairs being made upon the White House. Despite repairs and changes it's still the same old White House, and it will continue to be, Mr. Roosevelt said. So it is with the reconstruction of the government. The President talked to 100 or more Dutchess county neighbors and friends, members of the Democratic Women's Club of Hyde Park. They stood huddled under the dripping trees in the twilight as he spoke from the front steps of a little yellow farmhouse.

"When I go back to the White House it will be safer to live in," said, "but it will be the same old White House. The American people have always owned this. This is a useful parable for you to remember. We are not changing the White House. It will be the same White House no matter who may be the President in the next four years, eight years or ten years."

"And that is the same for other things. We are constantly repairing and helping White Houses that exist on every farm and every community. This is one reason I am not worried about the future of the United States."

Lindbergh Case Clues Sought In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Hunt for further clues to aid Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his battle for life swung to San Francisco today as attorney C. Lloyd Fisher checked reported new evidence.

Fisher, on a tour of the country in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case, declined to reveal exact purpose of his visit here.

"There are several little things I want to check on," he told reporters. Fisher said efforts would be continued to prove that the body identified as that of the Lindbergh baby actually was that of another child. He said Colonel Norman Schwartzkopf of the New Jersey state police had informed him no complete set of fingerprints of the child was available, but that he would check "partial prints" on his return to Flemington, N. J.

The prints will be investigated on the possibility that they match with those of a six year old boy found in Flushing, N.Y. Fisher said. Previously the attorney indicated that defense forces might produce the boy, an orphan, 12 years as the Lindbergh child. Fisher plans to visit Seattle and Portland, Oreg., before returning east to press Hauptmann's battle against conviction in the Lindbergh case.

NEW PLAN TO FINANCE AUTOS IS ANNOUNCED

Announcement of a new credit plan for financing the purchase of new and used automobiles on a low-cost basis was made yesterday by M. Gammon, president of the Bank of America.

The most novel innovation of the plan is the provision for the financing of a letter of credit to the prospective automobile purchaser, noting him to shop for his car on a cash basis.

The principal of automobile financing is now sufficiently well established to permit conservative banks to make this service a part of their regular credit facilities, said Gammon.

"We feel that the financing of automobile purchase offers a sound field for the employment of loanable bank funds, and that the credit of the automobile buyer who deals on an installment basis has been established by his financial record in this state."

"Believing that the public is entitled to the best possible service and most liberal terms of credit in financing automobile purchases, we are making our Automobile Letter of Credit Plan available to customers and non-customers at all 425 branches of our bank."

"We anticipate that the public will be prompt in accepting the new, low-cost means of financing a purchase of automobile, and that sales of cars throughout California will be stimulated accordingly."

Details of the bank's Automobile Letter of Credit Plan were explained by J. H. Miller, manager of the Richmond branch of the Bank of America.

"The procedure of this new type of financing is simple," he said. "A prospective purchaser of a new or used car applies at any of our branches for the Automobile Letter of Credit. Knowing the approximate value of the car he plans to trade in, or the amount of the down payment he wishes to make, it is merely a matter of arithmetic to determine the balance necessary to finance the car he desires."

"An Automobile Letter of Credit is issued for the amount necessary to complete the purchase. This letter of credit is in the hands of the purchaser when he selects his car and permits him to deal as a cash buyer."

"The bank pays the dealer cash for the balance due him and the buyer then repays the bank in monthly installments, on a cost basis computed at an extremely favorable rate, with the status of a cash buyer, he need make his credit information available only to the bank."

"Our new Automobile Letter of Credit Plan already has been announced to the personnel of all branches of Bank of America and has met with an enthusiastic response."

BUDGET FOR YEAR OKAYED BY COUNCIL

to about $23,000 a year, and the one-third restoration will mean a return to them of about $7,400 per year.

The only employee of the city who will not receive any increase is City Attorney Tom Carlson, who stated to the council, that he was satisfied to have his compensation remain the same.

During the reduced pay period members of the fire and police departments have been receiving $152.50 per month and under the new schedule they will be raised to $156.70.

In the street department the employees have been receiving from $101 to $127.50 and their increase will be an average of about $2.50 per month.

RECEIVE PRAISE

Supervisor James N. Long was present when the budget was adopted and the tax rate levied, and took occasion to say that he was very happy to see that the council had been able to bring about a reduction. "I know this cut in taxes," said Long, "will be appreciated by the people when it is passed on to them. I believe this body is entitled to every credit from the people for the economy you have brought about."

TAX RATE COMPARISON

A comparison of the tax rate last year and this year is as follows:

OLD DISTRICT

General fund $1,465 $1,427
Bond funds 585 542
Library09 .09
School fund03 .03

Totals $2.17 $2.09

ANNEXED DISTRICT

General fund $1,465 $1,427
Bond funds 585 542
Library09 .09

Totals $1,762 $1,71

It will be noted in connection with the tax levy that of the total amount there is 5425 cents for bond interest and redemption over which the council has no control. The lower rate in the annexed district is accounted for by the fact that it does not pay taxes on some of the bond issues in the city proper, as it was annexed after the bonds were voted.

Mobile Coast Guard headquarters reported the steamer Capulet, experienced engine trouble off the Florida east coast and requested aid.

GENEVA, Sept. 3. UP—The League of Nations tonight faced its most severe test since it was launched 15 years ago in a wave of post-war enthusiasm for collective peace guarantees.

Open Hearings On Objections To Gas Decision

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—UP—A three-judge Federal court today began hearings on the State railroad commission's objections to the report of H. M. Wright, special master, who found the commission's $2,100,000 rate reduction order to the Pacific Gas & Electric company confiscatory.

The three judges, Curtis D. Wilbur, A. F. St. Sure and Harold Louderback, heard arguments from Ira Rowell, commission attorney, that the reduction would result in increased use of gas. He said the master had overlooked that point in making his report.

"Since natural gas was introduced in 1930," Rowell said, "the effect has been to have comparatively high rates for domestic and small commercial users and low rates for large commercial users. The commission and I am sure the P. G. & E. believe a reduction in the domestic rate is imperative."
